Action Item: Bible Reading Plan

Bible Reading Plan

There are several possible plans for personal Scripture reading:

1. Start with Genesis and read a certain number of chapters, or for a certain amount of time, every day. Approximately 3 chapters per day will take you through the Bible in one year. Unfortunately, many well-intentioned people have started this plan several times over and have become experts on the books of Genesis, Exodus and Leviticus!
2. Read one book at a time, in any order, selecting books that address a current need or interest. This approach has its advantages, provided that an accurate record is kept. One disadvantage is the subjective element of book selection. Do we always really know what we need at any given moment?
3. Read systematically through the Scriptures, with daily readings from both the Old Testament and New Testament. We believe that this is a superior approach. The plan outlined in below suggests a morning reading from the New Testament and an evening reading from the Old Testament. By following this plan, you have a clear structure for daily reading and you will complete the entire Bible each year. Under this approach you can either read the morning and evening Scripture readings as specified OR read all Scripture passages for the day in the morning and spend evenings in journaling and prayer.

Tick off or highlight the passages you have read. This will help you see your progress as you read through God's Word.
